ABOUT THE ORGANISERS

CENTRAL UNIVERSITY OF KARNATAKA

The Central University of Karnataka (CUK) was established by an Act of the Parliament (No. 3 of 2009) at Kalaburagi, Karnataka. It is one among the 16 new Central Universities established by the Government of India during the UGC XI Plan Period. Hon'ble President of India is the Visitor of the University. The University is fully funded by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and it is situated on 654 acres campus in the district of Kalaburagi in Karnataka. The main objective of the University is integrating the components of Teaching, Research, Innovation, Training and Skill Development (TRI-TSD) with an aspiration to excel in integrated degree, post graduate and doctoral programs. The University offers the programs in following dominant areas: Arts, Humanities, Commerce, Management, Sciences, and Engineering. Currently the University is running 27 Departments spread in 10 Schools and 3 Centres, and offering 10 Undergraduate Degree Programmes, 25 Master Degree programmes and 17 Doctoral programmes.

Department of Journalism & Mass Communication

The Department of Journalism and Mass Communication was established in the year 2019 with a vision to develop responsible media professionals and academics with universal values and knowledge to meet the ever-changing divergent media environment and converging media technologies. The department currently offers a two-year postgraduate program in Journalism and Mass Communication focusing on professional development with skill-oriented courses, industry-based training, projects through outcome based education. The department strives to be a leading institute in the region and nationally with state of the art infrastructure, affordable education and learning environment.

SVKM'S USHA PRAVIN GANDHI COLLEGE

Shri Vile Parle Kelavani Mandal is a public charitable trust registered under the Societies Registration Act and Bombay Public Trust Act. SVKM has always been committed to the cause of providing high quality education at various levels. After beginning its journey in the early 1930's, SVKM has blossomed into an educational colossus that has attained national recognition in multiple streams of higher education. SVKM's Usha Pravin Gandhi College Arts, Science and Commerce was established in 2003. In its journey during the past 17 years it has grown in strength from 150 students from its inception to a total strength of 1680 students today. The college is affiliated to University of Mumbai and offers professional degrees in under graduate and post graduate streams. The academic staff at the college constantly commit themselves towards the growth of students to create the desired intellectual, economic and social value.

Department of Mass Media

The Department was started in August 2003 with one Masters Programme in Communication and Journalism that saw 20 students. Currently, the department offers M.A. (Media, Entertainment and Advertising), Bachelor of Mass Media and Bachelor of Arts (Film, Television & New Media Production) under Mumbai University. The department promotes inclusiveness and inculcates in its students the sense of responsibility and ownership for every aspect and act of their lives. It is the department's constant endeavour to make the students more skilled, capable, employable and aligned to the needs of our economy so that they contribute to country's progress and also obtain gainful employment.

ST. ANTHONY'S COLLEGE

St. Anthony's College is one of the premiere colleges of the northeast of India and one of the oldest among them. Established in 1934, it was one of the first colleges in India under the worldwide Don Bosco Society and is affiliated to the North Eastern Hill University (NEHU). It has been re-accredited by NAAC with Grade "A" - Cycle: 3 and has been recognised by UGC as a College with Potential for Excellence. Its vision is "Providing holistic and quality education within the reach of all" and its Mission is "To mould intellectually competent, morally upright, socially committed and spiritually inspired persons capable of building a more human social order within the context of the nation's plurality of religions and diversity of cultures". Staying true to its vision, mission and motto of being "Ever more, better ever", it has over the years, produced a number of students who have gone ahead to achieve success both academically and professionally in their chosen fields of study.

Department of Mass Media

The Media department has two separate graduate programs running- Mass Communication and Video Production; and Media technologies. The undergraduate course in Mass Communication and Video Production was started in 1995 and was the first of its kind in the country. It was in recognition to the pioneering effort of the college that the University Grants Commission (UGC) sanctioned a second professional graduate course in Media Technologies in 2001. Both courses enable students to find their place among a burgeoning class of media professionals and the department has over the years prepared competent professionals who are employed in various sectors of the media industry today.

CONCEPT NOTE

Communication is a symbolic process whereby reality is produced, maintained, repaired and transformed (Carey, 1989). This process is a culmination of a variety of narratives that trace the trajectory of human identity and consciousness. The concept and construction of this identity has experienced a significant amount of debate, discourse and change over time. It is no longer considered simply from a natural/biological perspective, but seems to be derived on the basis of cultural metaphors too. These cultural metaphors have been referred to as multi-discursive in nature and comprising of a multitude of representations derived from both lived and imagined sources of references. They often find their way in people's narratives. The semantics of these expressions; interpretations of our experiences; the myths that surround them; stories that find expression through the resurgence of our memories; and narratives we employ, are all a process of communication used to interpret our identities. While, in the field of communication studies or in studying human societies in general, this process has been further augmented by the advancement of media technologies, its' association with cultural studies have also defined it as cultural production. If one is to refer to the words of Bourdieu, "the field of cultural production has symbolic power, and its products are among the means by which a society—including its way of life and its sets of values—is objectified." This cultural production can include media, communication, cultural narratives and the arts. Now and post the COVID-19 pandemic, human society, interaction, communication and cultural production are all set to be redefined all over again. This conference aims to bring forth a set of collective ideas and discourses on how myths, memories and its reproduction through media and cultural narratives have all shaped and defined 'identity' this far and how it is set to define it in the future.
